

START YOUR EXPERIENCE NOW

The Valley Art Center serves the Lewis-Clark Valley and the Quad Cities and has provided fine art opportunities for area artists, college classes for Walla Walla Community College, and art workshops by national, regional and local instructors for over 50 years!

The Valley Art Center is a non-profit organization supported entirely by the contributions from the local community and local artists both amateur and professional. The center depends on the sale of memberships which are tax deductible, and commissions from the sale of local and regional art exhibitions and gallery sales. The center has trained dozens of successful artists, sculptors, painters, ceramicists and exhibited their work along with creative needlework and photography. Stephen Lyman had his first exhibit here.

The calendar of coming events reflects some of the exciting opportunities for area residents to learn about art and other culture through changing exhibits in our two galleries and the museum displays.
